Bridge Project Update

Over the past two weeks, the team working on the Lt. Cmdr. John C. Waldron Memorial Bridge project has been making steady progress in removing steel components from the old bridge superstructure. The focus has been on dismantling intermediate elements, including beams, smaller stringer beams, and wind braces.

Meanwhile, excavation crews have been busy on both sides of the river, clearing the old roadbed to prepare for the next stages of construction.

While progress remains steady, a stretch of good winter weather would go a long way in keeping the team on track for spring.

As always, we remind all commuters and pedestrians to stay vigilant throughout the entire construction zone!
